

Marin Interagency Disaster Coalition

MIDC's Piece of the Puzzle

June 14, 2011

MIDC Is...

A collaboration between non-profits, faith communities, some private organizations, and governmental agencies

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication – Collaboration

Why Does It Matter?

- Working together through MIDC:
 - Helps us serve the community in a coordinated fashion
 - Helps us make sure our most vulnerable residents are served
 - Helps us make the best use of limited resources

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication – Collaboration

When Disaster Strikes, MIDC Responds

- Provide liaison to Marin Operational Area EOC
 - Serve as hub for status reports and requests for assistance
 - Assess extent of disaster needs and suggest resources

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication – Collaboration

Getting Together – Starts with a Conference Call

- Held within 36 hours
- Participants
- Call Agenda –
 - Assess the situation
 - Decide whether to convene an MIDC partners meeting

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication - Collaboration

Getting Together– the Initial MIDC Meeting

- Held within 72 hours if feasible
- Participants
- Meeting Topics:
 - Purpose
 - Situation reports
 - Declaration process
 - Organization reports
 - Community needs

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication - Collaboration

How Will We Communicate?

- Email notification
- Call tree
- www.MIDCpartners.org
- Text messaging
- MEANS
- Radio communication
- Teleconferencing
- Pre-designated location for initial MIDC meeting

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication - Collaboration

MIDC for the Long Haul

- We want to help people get back on their feet
- Determine need for long term recovery organization
- LTRO brings key organizations together, leverages resources

David Paul Morris

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication - Collaboration

Any Questions?

Thank you for helping the most vulnerable recover
following a disaster.

Steven Hancock: (415) 485-3111, Steven.Hancock@cityofsanrafael.org

Cooperation – Coordination – Communication – Collaboration